

30 June 2008

Tenants get real perks through the Aengus Lifestyle Card

Aengus Property Management is now offering its tenants considerably more benefits than before. They can now become part of the Aengus Lifestyle Benefits Programme, giving them access to a variety of lifestyle-related perks.

Inner city property developer, Aengus, which has developed such sought after properties as Lofts@66 and Fashion Lofts, and the recently launched Skyways Retirement Boutique apartments, aims to give tenants more than merely upmarket accommodation. Rather, Aengus tenants are offered a complete lifestyle package.

Topping the long list of lifestyle services which only Aengus tenants can enjoy – from on-site convenience stores and laundries, to cinema rooms – is the exclusive Aengus Lifestyle Card.

Linked through Discounted Lifestyle Mall to 500 retail and service partners involved in the programme, all offering tenants discounts of between 10% and 30%, the Aengus Lifestyle Card is a significant benefit. Card holders can get discounts across a wide range of lifestyle services and products, including on small and large appliances, quality furniture, airtime providers, magazines subscriptions, restaurants, gym memberships, air travel, car hire and hotel accommodation at leading chains.

The card is just another way in which Aengus hopes to makes its properties more than just a place to live, but rather a way of life.